

Jason Robertson

Official Kraft Werks Firefighter and Cat Herder

a.k.a. Director of Projects and Procurement

ABOUT ME

Jesus enthusiast. Wolverine in buckeye country. Passionate about people. Planner of things.

BIO

Father was a Boilermaker turned executive and mother was stay-at-home mom turned VP. Jason understands the value of everyone in the organization. He started as a young union labor foreman on blast furnace reconstruction projects and grew professionally through several industries serving in directing roles for brands like: TLT Babcock, Air Enterprises and Global Spectrum. Jason's background has allowed him to create several company divisions from scratch while managing individual projects exceeding $100M. Having spent the last twenty years in engineered-to-order capital equipment supply, he now serves as Director of Projects and Procurement for Kraft Werks.

The now retired Zamboni driver graduated from Ball State University with a BS in Administration and University of Michigan with an MS in Management. Jason chairs the board of his community youth basketball organization and loves his family more than he can describe.
